Add up the scores

Add up all your scores and turn the page to find out what sort of drinker you are.

Your total score:
What your score means

HIGH-RISK
Your drinking will cause you or may have already caused you problems.

MEDIUM-RISK
Your drinking is putting you at risk of developing problems.

LOW-RISK
Your drinking is not likely to cause you problems if it remains at this level.
Low-risk drinking advice for adults

Reduce your long-term health risks by drinking no more than:
- 2 standard drinks a day for women and no more than 10 standard drinks a week
- 3 standard drinks a day for men and no more than 15 standard drinks a week

AND at least two alcohol-free days every week.

Reduce your risk of injury on a single occasion of drinking by drinking no more than:
- 4 standard drinks for women on any single occasion
- 5 standard drinks for men on any single occasion.

Stop drinking alcohol if you could be pregnant, are pregnant or are trying to get pregnant.

There is no known safe level of alcohol use at any stage of pregnancy.
When should you not drink?

It's advisable not to drink if you:

- are pregnant or planning to get pregnant
- are on medication that interacts with alcohol
- have a condition made worse by drinking alcohol.

- feel unwell, depressed, tired or cold as alcohol could make things worse
- are about to operate machinery or a vehicle or do anything that is risky or requires skill.

If you are not sure or are concerned, check with your doctor.

What can you do now?

If you would like to cut down, here are some tips:

1. Work out a personal limit per day, per week or per occasion – and stick to it.
2. Do more activities that don’t involve drinking. Alternate alcoholic and non-alcoholic drinks.
3. Ring the Alcohol Drug Helpline: 0800 787 797 for free, confidential advice and resources to help you cut down.

When socialising with friends or family:

1. Eat before you drink and while you’re drinking.
2. Have some non-alcoholic drinks.
3. Don’t allow others to top up your drink.
4. Count your drinks.
5. Tell your friends that you are cutting down.
Understanding standard drinks

What is a standard drink?
One thing you need to know about before you start DrinkCheck is standard drinks. The thing that matters when you’re counting drinks is the amount of pure alcohol in a drink.

Check the label
Check the label to see how many standard drinks there are in what you’re drinking. For example, remember, if you get four glasses of wine from a bottle displaying eight standard drinks, then each glass contains two standard drinks.

For example
A mixed drink with 30ml (a single shot) of spirits gives you about the same amount of pure alcohol as a 330ml can of beer or a 100ml glass of wine. They’re all around one standard drink.

330ml bottle of beer @ 4% alcohol
100ml glass of wine @ 12.5% alcohol
30ml of straight spirits @ 42% alcohol
